

Well it was a busy day at work. I spent most of the morning working on attendance, sending deliveries down to students and greeting people coming in. I had a nice lunch and talked with the Elem. Media Specialist and her sister. I spent the afternoon printing progress reports. I was so grateful to our guidance secretary and our SRO. They helped me put up all the progress reports, PTA newsletters and other things that came in at the last min. This evening I watched the 2nd hour of last night EM Home Edition in Hawaii. Plus I watched tonight episode of "The War".
