

It was a good day at work. I finished up a big Excel project and did some other odds and ends. It was freezing in the office today 60° and blowing cold air. I had soup for lunch and that was great. This evening I catered a rehearsal dinner. It was a plated dinner and it went very well. The best was we got to eat some of the leftovers. Yummy salmon, mashed potatoes, green beans, and peach cobbler. YUMMY!
