

It was a very encouraging message this morning from Luke's gospel. John added to it when talking about communion. It was a sweet service. Afterwards, the Codispoti's, Burchfield's, Cubino's and I had lunch out. I then did my grocery shopping and laid down for a while. Mom and Dad called. They have been busy this weekend with their church's mission blitz (doing lots of projects for deserving people in their community).
