

I still felt a little run down today, but praise the Lord I'm feeling better. Work was steady. I worked on putting new student's test scores in the system. I ran some reports and worked on some prep-work for an event Thursday. I came home and changed into my lounge wear. I caught up on some stuff on my DVR and watched Heroes tonight.

Share this:

- Share