

Yesterday we were hot at work. I just praise the Lord for my fan. Today we were freezing. My sinuses are not happy :). But I did have lunch in the tech. center. It is nice to get out of my office and eat with friends. This evening I met Dan Cubino for a good time of encouragement, sharpening each other with the Word, and prayer. I really appreciate that brother and am so thankful the Lord has him in my life and I in his.

This evening I relaxed and listened to some praise and worship music. I talked with Mom and got directions to the family reunion Saturday night. I'm looking forward to seeing Mom & Dad, Grandmother, Donna & Harley, Roger & Karen and hopefully Wes & Kristi and Adam. Plus extended family.

I wanted to share a few photos from the event we catered Saturday. Shannon send me some here are just two.

Share this:

- Share