

It was a busy day at work. We have clusters (elective classes that are for service, academic support & fun with out grades) at our school. Today was the first of the year. All the periods were shortened to give time for the cluster. Kids were off an a little confused because of it and our school nurse was at an all day meeting. So between sickness, people asking about clusters and discipline the office was busy. But our school social worker brought us lunch from the Mediterranean Deli! Plus our school office assistant/nurse assistant got her weekends mixed up and she thought this Sunday is my birthday. So she and the others on staff wished me a happy birthday and had cake for me. So we celebrated early. It is fun to have 2 birthdays :).

After work, I headed over to Mebane for a catering. I was way early so I went grocery shopping for the non-perishable stuff. Then I headed over to the Winery at Iron Gate Farm. We did an Italian themed rehearsal dinner. The food was great and the group was great to work for. The bride & groom had their favorite people bake their favorite cakes. So there were 8 cakes to choose from.

Be in prayer for my Grandmother (Allred). She has lung issues and is on oxygen. Dad called today to say Mom, my Aunt Donna, and Uncle Roger took her to Baptist Hospital because she was having trouble breathing. I would appreciate your prayers for her.
