It was a steady day at work. I did attendance. I did a training session with one of our new teachers on the system. It was nice to take a break at lunch and read a little. This afternoon I helped the PTA out with some data for the student directory. I relaxed at home tonight and watched Little People, Big World and Heroes. I've posted a cool clip I watched today. Thanks to Amy Osborn aka knitnmom for the link.

Share this:

• Share