

I slept in a little today. After breakfast & quiet time I got ready and went over to Target and looked around. Then I went to BestBuy and used a gift card some of the guys from church gave me along with some money from Mary Etta (Grandmother Gentry) had given me to buy some new headphones and a car charger for my iPod. I picked up a few things from the grocery store and grabbed lunch from Rosters Cafe. I relaxed this afternoon and watched a movie and the episode of "Extreme Makeover Home Edition" from last night. It was a nice day off. Back to work at school tomorrow. It will be a busy week with meetings and other things. I'm thankful for the weekend of rest.
