

It was a good day today. Work was steady and praise the Lord I was able to get a lot accomplished. Today over lunch a group of us from the Education Office Professionals helped out with holiday cheer. We raise money to help needy families out during Thanksgiving. The school social workers nominate families. Today we looked through the nominations and chose 8 families to receive help. It was a blessing to be a part of the choosing and it made me so grateful for my family and how blessed I am. After work, Dan Cubino and I had supper and had a good time of encouragement in the Lord.
