

It was a busy morning. Since our system is down for upgrades, I was using electronic PDF's to look up student information and schedules. I did attendance using Excel and pasting data in. It took a while to do. After lunch, I went over to the district office and picked up some things for our school secretary. I had some good conversations during the day as well. This evening I came home and packed up for Thanksgiving since I'm headed to Mom & Dad's after work tomorrow. I had a short conversation with a friend from high school on Facebook. Then I watched "Little People, Big World" and "Heroes."
