

I got up this morning and had some quiet time. I got dressed and started my day. I went to Office Depot and got a new color cartridge for my printer. I stopped in Big Lots and got a few odds and ends. I dropped off my rent check. Then I some grocery shopping. I printed out and mounted some photos from my Kenya mission trip and put them in a frame. I'll put it up at work next week. I took it easy in the afternoon. I got ready and headed out to Iron Gate Winery for a catering. I got there and looked from my car. It didn't look set up. I check the voice main on my cell phone. Marg had called a few minuets before I turned it on. It is next week. I called her and check in. Then I headed back home. I fixed supper and watched Ocean's 13.

Share this:

- Share