It was a good day at work. I did a lot of discipline data entry. I printed grade reports for different teachers on their groups. I helped some of the staff out on technology issues. This evening I catered. We did a Christmas party for a bank's managers & staff. It was at a house. It was great (warm) weather out. Everyone had a good time and it was a fun group to work for. Plus the husband & wife who hosted are so nice.
