

It was a steady day at work. I tried to stay warm. The AC was still on in my office for most of the day. I worked with our AIG co-ordinator putting several kids in the system. I ran several email list for teachers and did some medical data entry. I worked some extra time doing an athletic report. I then headed over to our district office for a Education Office Professionals meeting. I got there and talked with the Assistant Superintendent a little. I then found out the meeting was canceled. I then headed over to the mall and used a gift certificate I had been given for Christmas. I grabbed some supper and headed home.

Share this:

- Share