

Well my sinuses & stomach were better today. Work was very busy. I did attendance, some discipline entry, some medical data entry and I spent most of the afternoon printing report cards. I got them printed and in the teachers' boxes so they can give them out to the kids tomorrow. After work, I headed to the Captain White house. I worked with Marg, Chelsea, & Shannon catering a retirement party. It went very well. After we packed up Marg & I headed over to the church for the Akin's going away party. I was glad I could make it since I missed home group last night. They are a great family and we will miss them. There is a church in KY that will be blessed to get them.
