

It was a wild day with our computer network at school. First the wireless network went down and then we had issues with the regular network. But I was able to get attendance done and work on other odds and ends. I did some grocery shopping this afternoon and relaxed at home tonight.

Share this:

- Share