

It was a good 2nd day of the symposium. I had a full day of classes and I picked up some tips and tricks. I had lunch with some other data managers and got to share a little. The last session got out early because of some technical issues. I headed back to Burlington. I catered with Marg tonight for PIP Printing's 25th anniversary in Alamance County. It was a good event. Then I came home and watched American Idol.
