

I spend the day in Greensboro at the North Carolina Education Office Professionals conference. I went to 4 session and the brunch. I learned a lot and had a good time with the people from my district. I'm glad I was away from windows most of the day. The rain made me sleepy ☹️. I headed over to church early to let in and help set up for our guest speaker from Voice of the Martyrs. It was a very eye opening presentation and I learned so much. I'm so glad I could be there to hear and be able to pray more specifically for the church around the world.
