

Still adjusting to the time change. Church was a sweet time of worship and digging into the work. We had two families dedicated children and 3 new deacons installed. It was a full day but a good one. After church, John & Lorie and I had lunch and caught up. It was good to hear all the Lord has been doing in their lives and share what He is doing in mine. I took it easy this evening and caught up with Mom & Dad over the phone.

Share this:

- Share