

What a day. We had a TON of things going on at school. I just had to pray for our receptionist. It stressed me out just working 30 min. at her desk while she was at lunch. We had all the district's orchestra students coming to our school (and not going to the right place), the National Latin exam, 8th graders meeting with high school counselors, a principal out at a meeting, and discipline issues. Plus I was at our district office for a meeting most of the morning so she was handling attendance. My meeting went well and we got a lot done. After lunch, I lifted the circumstances and people at work up to the Lord. Praise Him that the afternoon was quiet and productive. After work, I headed back over to the district office for our monthly Education Office Professionals meeting. It was so nice to come home and unwind from the day!
