

It was a great day and a good finish to a nice weekend. We had men's breakfast at church this morning. Mark taught on Men as protectors. It was very good. Worship & the song from the Easter cantata were great. Mark's sermon about the Jesus on the cross and the heart of the repentant thief was so sweet. It just made me so thankful for what Christ suffered on the cross for me. I'm so grateful for salvation and a new life in Christ.

I talked with Marg this afternoon and found out I didn't have to work tonight. I relaxed and watched some suspense movies on TCM (Key Largo & Rear Window). Tonight I enjoyed Extreme Makeover Home Edition. They did a house and a center for a pastor and his family who reach out to bikers and the teens in the area and are changing lives. It was a huge blessing to them.

Be in prayer for all of us at my school. We found out our secretary who got sick Friday had a major issue. She went through emergency surgery that night. She is out of ICU and doing better, but will be out for 7-10 days. It is a blessing 5 of those will be over our spring break. But we will all be pulling together to cover this week.
