

It was a good day at work. I was able to get through the back log of data entry for discipline reports and immunization entry. I'm not caught up but praising the Lord for the progress. I came home and did some reading. Then I caught up with a friend on the phone. It was nice to relax tonight. I'm dealing with some allergies & stomach issues (because of the allergies). Enjoyed some prayer time this evening and listening to some worship music I discovered on iTunes.

Share this:

- Share