

It was a busy morning at work. We had some kids acting up, a student re-enrolling, the superintendent visiting, and several other things. Thankfully the afternoon was more peaceful and very productive for me. We had our Education Office Professionals meeting this evening. It was a quick meeting but a good one. I grabbed some supper and did some shopping before heading home.

Share this:

- Share