

It was a busy Friday. I didn't get to do a whole lot of scheduling work like I wanted, but it was a very productive and fun day. I ran by Food Lion on the way home to pick up a few things. I headed of to City Park for Antioch's first softball game of the season. It was a very good game and a good win for our team. It was fun to enjoy the weather even with the dust. I relaxed this evening, read some blogs and listened to music.
