

It was a wild morning. I hit the ground running. We had 3 teachers and 2 TA's out with no subs. So I worked to find coverage for all of their classes. We have a great staff and all the classes got covered. Our band, orchestra, and chorus classes (most of them) were competing at Carowinds today. So it made attendance a little harder, trying to make sure people were not counted absent incorrectly. I worked on some money stuff and a few other odds and ends.

I headed out from school and headed over to Elon. We were doing a catering this evening. It was outdoors and the weather was great. Everyone had a great time and it was a good event. I headed over to watch Antioch play softball (since they had the 9:30pm game). But the other team never showed up. So the team and some of the younger guys did a scrimmage. It was fun getting to talk with everyone and cap off a good day with fellowship.
