

It was a good Saturday. I got up and had some quiet time. I read the news and some blogs. I did the dishes and two loads of laundry. I watched some shows on my DVR. I spent the afternoon preparing for Bible study and enjoying listening to Gateway Worship. The Bible study went well. I pray that what I shared blessed people. It encouraged me doing it. I shared about family from the Word and talked about transitions from being a child in the home to an adult. Afterwards we all went to Graham and met up with Nick his friend from Liberty and the Cobb's & Aaron. We watched "The Bucket List" at the Graham Cinema.

Share this:

- Share