

Gentry's Store

Yesterday was the open house/celebration of the 75th anniversary of Gentry's Store. Gentry's Store was started by my Grandfather Holton and now is owned and run by my Father Hughes. The store has been a feed & seed, grocery store, Western Auto, and now a general store. Through the years the store has been a community spot and gathering place. It was such a blessing to see so many people who had worked at the store over the years. Many customers, community members and family came for the celebrations. Everyone had a great time swapping stories, sharing memories, and reconnecting with friends. My Mom, Sue, her sister, Donna, and Mary Etta, my Grandmother made the refreshments. It was a great evening.

Dad & Mom drawing for prizes

You can see more photos on my photo page.

Great article from the Winston-Salem Journal.