

A Glimpse from the Inside

I was secretly given access to a world wide organization. I walked the hidden hallways, sat in on strategy meetings, and saw some of the inner workings. No one in the organization knew I was there. I escaped and have come to tell you what I saw and heard. Others must know and the word must be spread. This organization seeks to influence, control, and put everyone in debt to them. People must know their tactics and see their influence. That way they can fight with knowledge, wisdom, and most of all truth. It is my hope is that this brief account will give people an opening and a tool to dig further. When this organization finds out what I'm sharing they will come after me and adapt their strategy, but their goals will not change. Here is my tale.

I was brought into a meeting and there were many present there. The head of the organization sat surrounded by advisors and underlings. They all fawned over him with a mixture of eagerness and fear. He was outlining the goals once again and calling for methods to accomplish them. A group was called forth to present. They had been assigned to take an existing method and adapt it and make it more useful. They came forward and the conversation went something like this.

“Sir you have worked hard to bring this organization influence in the businesses and organizations in this world.”

The leader smiled a smug smile and gave them a look that said get on with it.

“We are charged with coming up with ideas to gain you more access and more power over everyone one and everything without them protesting.”

One in the group brings forth examples of different media to illustrate their work.

“We are slowly demanding more profit. This is forcing the longer hours of work on people from the top down. It is causing people to come to advisors that we own seeking advice, tricks, and methods to increase the profit. This doubles our profit. The longer hours of work and demand for productivity force people into ill health in body and mind. Once again we reap the benefits because of our holdings in the medical & pharmaceutical areas.”

The leader smiles and says “Yes your efforts in this area are making great gains, but what of your assignment on the world's families?”

“Sir great gains are being made. Our influence one business, commerce, and government are growing. Our marketing drives people to buy what they do not need, which puts them in debt. This causes the men to work longer hours away from home and when they are home they just want to escape instead of being with their family. They run to us. We provide them with entertainment that weakens their resolve, food and drink to excess that puts them overweight, for drugs to quiet them and heal them, for sexual pleasure that drives them from their spouse. We are doing all this and they don't know we are in control. We are even forcing women to work outside the home, not of their choice, but out of necessity to pay off debt and to provide them with worth that they are not receiving elsewhere. The parents are not at home a lot and when they are home they are not fully there. This is driving a wedge between parents and children. Our influence on the children's lives is growing daily.”

“Excellent,” replied the leader. “How well are we hiding our influence and control?”

“Well sir,” the team leader replied, “most of the people are so deeply busy, overwhelmed and caught up in themselves that they cannot see beyond their circumstances. There are some who see some of our influence and control, but don’t believe what they see. Most those who do see think it our control is very limited.”

“And what of those who are a part of our opposition?” The leader bellowed.

“Well. . . that is . . . more difficult. We are doing our best to disguise our influence in their lives. We are hiding our methods in the culture and politics. We try to make the ones who speak out look foolish. We are using the available media, government, and organizations to call them alarmists, conspiracy theorists, not politically correct, insensitive, not modern, not rational, ultra conservative, and more.”

“Is this working?”

“Yes sir! Many have stopped being vocal in their opposition. They have withdrawn themselves from areas where they could have influence in government, media, and society. They are content to isolate themselves thinking it will insulate them and their groups from us.”

Laughing the leader said, “That only gives us more influence and power over the rest and blinds them to our more secretive plans!”

“Yes and the opposition that is left has more on their shoulders. They burn out more quickly and when they do we can gain footing in their lives.”

This was all I could take. As quietly as I could, I ran from that place. I ran to the one who had helped me see this. I came exhausted in mind, body, and spirit.

“Now you understand,. . . don’t you?” He said.

“Yes,” I replied, “but what can be done?”

He smiled, looked me in the eyes and said, “Write down what you have been shown. Share it with others and let me handle convincing them.”

I have been faithful to record what I have seen and heard. Consider that, what I have recorded are just some of the plans and schemes of this organization. Seek out my friend and he will help you help you see more clearly and fight against this group. It will not be easy or without challenges to your finances, character, and sanity; but he is more powerful than that organization. He will bring you through. He is bringing me through it daily! I must go for now, but I will write more when I can.

Faithfully,

A Messenger
